Las Vegas Firefighters Caught Up In Shooting Incident

First Responders Not Injured During Incident

Las Vegas firefighters responding to a medical emergency at a residence got caught up in a drive-by shooting incident late Sunday night. The crew was not injured during the incident.

Las Vegas firefighters were dispatched to a residence on Sequoia Ave at 8:00 p.m. for a reported medical emergency. While the crew was at the residence, gun fire erupted in the street in front of the residence. There was a large crowd at the residence gathering after attending a funeral.

The LVFR rescue unit was parked in front of the residence during the ordeal. Despite several shots being fired, no one was injured and the rescue unit was not damaged.

The medical emergency was handled and additional LVFR firefighters responded to the incident to handle any additional injuries as the result the incident.

After it was determined that no other medical emergencies existed, firefighters left the scene which was in control by Metro Police.
